

A mercenary stands atop a nearby building looking at the corporate tower

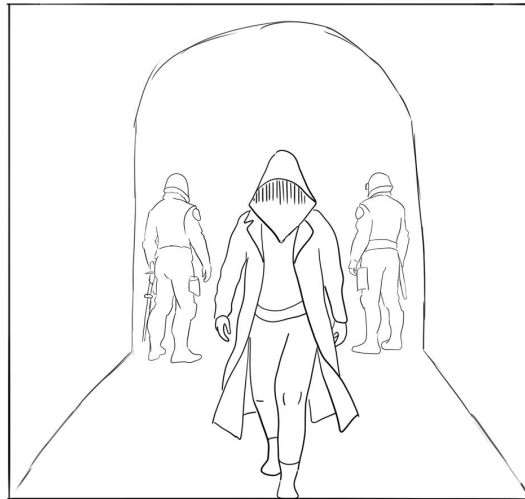

Mercenary looks at his device which projects a holographic image of a map

A close shot of the mercenary's face to show the tension

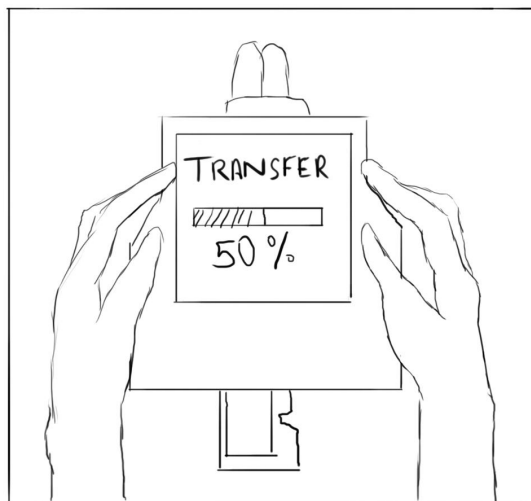

The mercenary activates the cloak mode with the help of the brooch on his arm

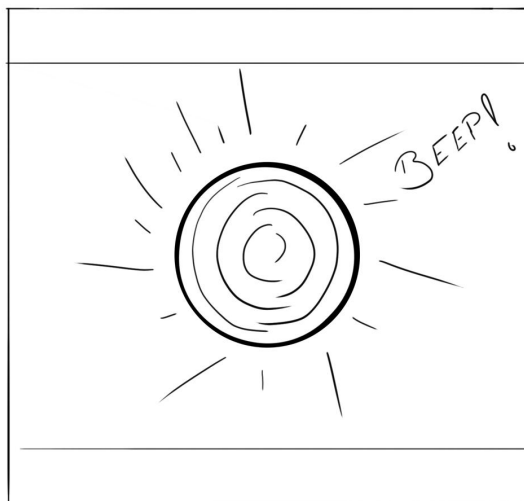

Mercenary walk past the two guards at the entrance of the building

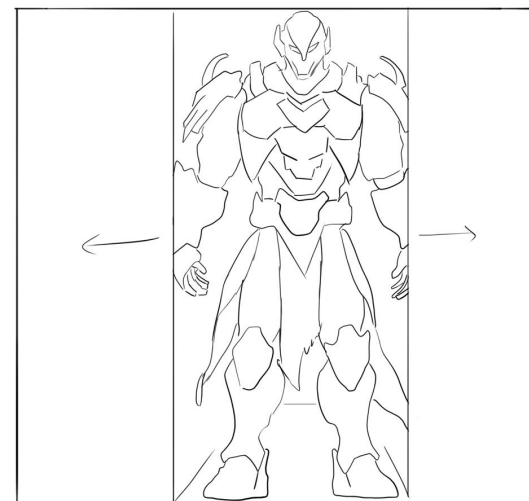

The mercenary starts hacking the system by plugging a device into the terminal

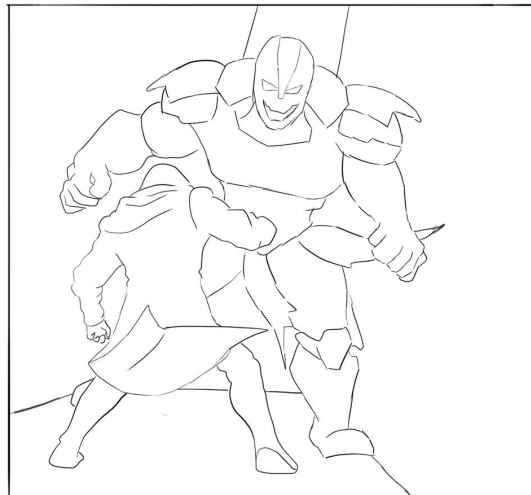

The Device was transferring the data to a chip

The alarm went off

The door opens and an enforcer enters the room

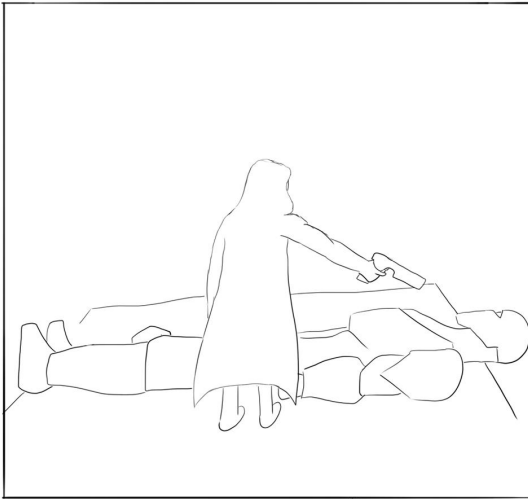

The enforcer attacks the mercenary but the mercenary dodges the punch

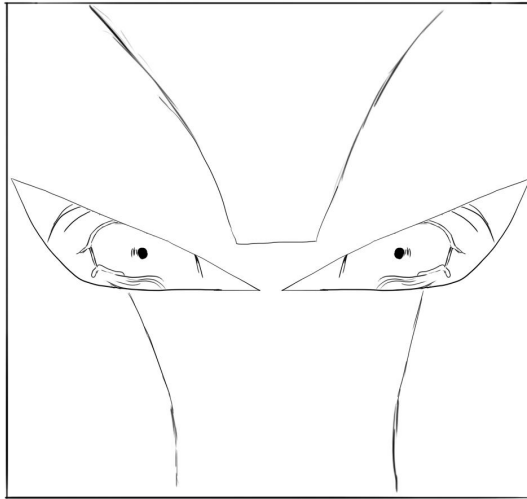

Then the mercenary throws an 'EMP' grenade towards the enforcer

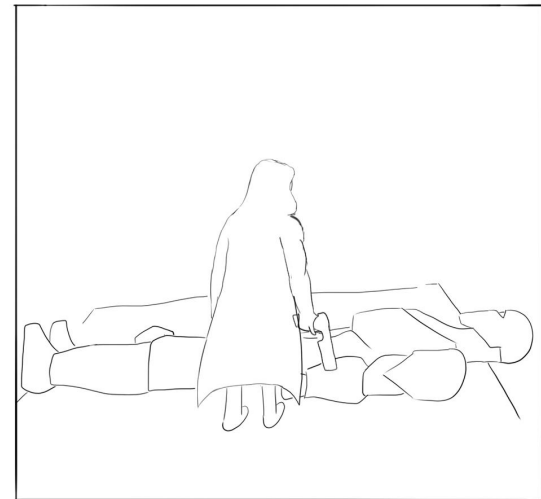

Enforcer's circuits malfunctioned and he fell to the ground

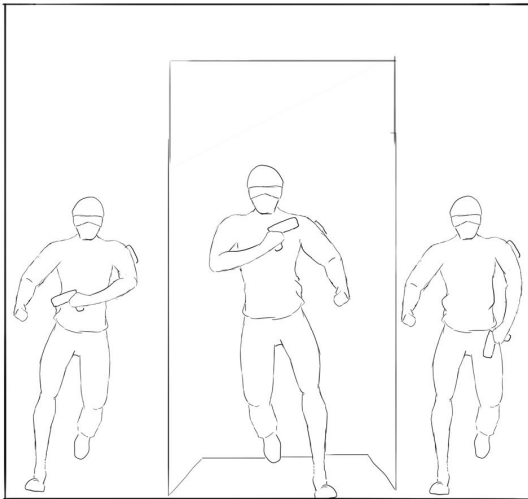

The mercenary points a gun at the enforcer

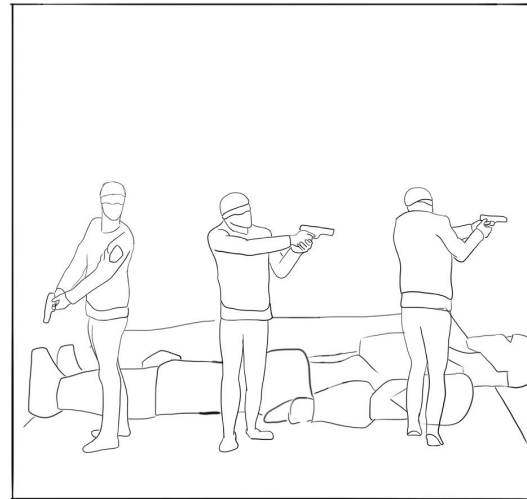

The enforcer was scared and at the brink of breaking into tears

The mercenary stopped and lowered the gun

Suddenly more guards came running in

The guards searched for the intruder but he was nowhere to be found

After that we see the mercenary standing in an alley way holding the chip